Nominate now for SA Great awards

By LISA BACHMAYER

REGION – Alexandrina Cheese and the Rotary Club of Victor Harbor Art Show have been serial award winners in the past, but this year could be your organisation, friend, or family member's turn for glory.

Nominations for the tenth SA Great Fleurieu Peninsula/Kangaroo Island Regional Awards are now open.

Last year organisers received 144 nominations from the region and hope to exceed that with an even higher number this year.

“The Fleurieu Peninsula and Kangaroo Island region is well-represented in the SA Great Regional Awards Hall of Fame, and we hope this year's nominations will continue to demonstrate the fantastic dedication of this community,” SA Great chief executive officer Nikki Seymour-Smith said.

Having won numerous arts and business awards, the Rotary Club of Victor Harbor Art Show and Alexandrina Cheese will be inducted into the Hall of Fame this year.

Nominations are open to South Australians who live or work in the Fleurieu Peninsula and Kangaroo Island region.

Awards are available in 10 categories for those who have demonstrated excellence in the arts, community work, business, innovation, sustainability, sport, tourism or youth.

ty to recognise these people,” awards coordinator Amanda Sparke said.

Krystyna McCaul of Alexandrina Cheese said the company's success in the awards has been a real honour.

“It's a great marketing opportunity and a way to receive recognition within your community and the region,” she said.

“It is well worth doing...and a good way to see how far you've come and how far you've got to go.”

Nominate online by visiting www.sagreat.com.au or collect a nomination form from local councils, Regional Development Board, or Australia Post outlets.

Nominations close June 12.
